The Fantasticks

THE FANTASTICKS is a parable about love with words (verse) and music. Most of all, however, THE FANTASTICKS is a boy, a girl, and an audience's memory.

The Place
Just simply on a stage
The Period
Then

ACT I Takes place in the moonlight
ACT II Takes place in the sun

Please—
“Try to remember
The kind of September
When life was slow
And oh, so mellow...”

“There is a curious paradox
That none can explain.
Who understands the secret
Of the reaping of the grain?
Who understands why Spring is born
Out of Winter's laboring pain?
Or why we must all die a bit
Before we grow again?”
... The Narrator in Act II
