Emma Walker is an aging widow who yearns to rejoin her beloved, departed husband. Touching and tender, yet humorous and human, this new play won high honors in the 1984 Mayhew Playwriting Contest. Be sure to join us as Emma postpones her happy reunion in order to help her troubled teen-age grandson in this moving and memorable comedy.

The Glass MENAGERIE

BY TENNESSEE WILLIAMS

DIRECTED BY HAROLD R. OAKS

Here is William's masterpiece. With tenderness and passion, he tells the story of Amanda Wingfield and her two wounded, tormented children. First is Laura, fragile, delicate and afraid as she searches for acceptance and understanding. Then there's Tom, struggling to free himself from his mother's make-believe world. Don't miss this rare and moving theatre experience.
